

ADHD Best Practice at Work

An Innovative Event Supported by ND Leaders

The ADHD Best Practice At Work Conference, a not-for-profit event organised by ADHD Girls, WBSA and the ani Group, brings together ADHDers and the world of work. Our mission is to facilitate conversations to design support for ADHDers in the workplace based on a whole person approach.

A Virtual Half Day Conference

Format: 3 Keynote Talks and 1 Mastermind Session.

Virtual conference bringing ADHDers and World of Work together

 Monday, 16th May 2022  8.45 am to 12.45 pm

Supported by the

Aims

- Provide insights into current and future trends in ND at Work.
- Share best practices to support ADHDers in the workplace for businesses and leaders across functions.
- Improve accessibility into employment and job retention for ADHDers.
- Understand the necessity of considering intersectionality and presence of any overlapping neurodiverse conditions when designing support.
- Set the tone for inclusive language and communication.

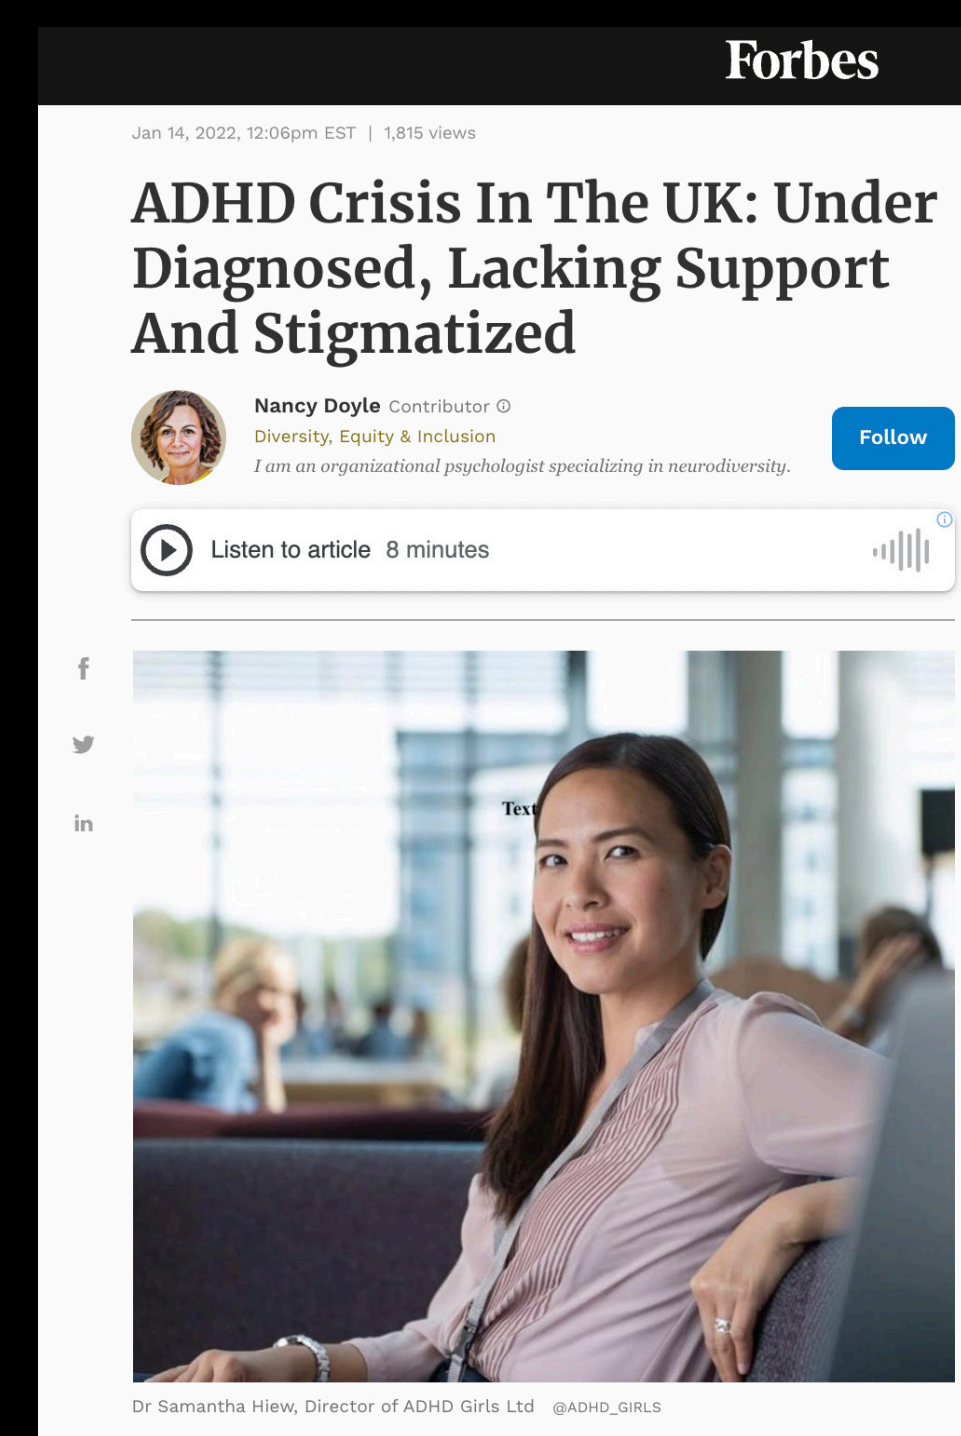

Dr Hiew is working with the ADHD Foundation and other professionals / people with lived experience, organizing an event for employers to learn more about creating the conditions for ADHDers to thrive at work; such learning opportunities will go a long way to reducing exclusion based on negative stereotypes and assumptions.

DR NANCY DOYLE, CRO GENIUS WITHIN, CO-DIRECTOR CENTRE FOR NEURODIVERSITY AT WORK

As Featured in Forbes

Find out more at: <https://adhdgirls.co.uk/adhd-best-practice/>

Supported by

